INTRODUCTION

The Commission is committed to providing effective complaint handling services to the public of New South Wales and to improving confidence in the provision of health services.

Our Strategic Plan shows how we aim to meet our stakeholders' needs/expectations with quality services, using highly performing people and with good governance and management practices. It also describes our overall planning processes.

"protecting the health and safety of the public by resolving, investigating, and prosecuting complaints about health care"

THE PLAN COVERS THE FOLLOWING AREAS:

- Our Vision & Mission
- Our Role
- Our Values
- Our External Environment
- How we deliver our services
- Our Key Result Areas and Objectives/Strategies
- How we will Measure our Performance

OUR VISION

Reliable and safe health care

OUR OBJECTIVE

Health Care Complaints Commission acts in the public interest by resolving, investigating and prosecuting complaints about health care to protect the health and safety of the public

OUR ROLE

The Commission, working in conjunction with the relevant Registration Authorities, has been established to resolve, investigate and prosecute complaints about health care to protect the health and safety of the public.

The Commission investigates and determines complaints against unregistered health service providers to protect the public.

The rights of clients in the NSW health system are promoted by the provision of clear and easily accessible mechanisms for the resolution of complaints.

The rights of health providers are protected by the opportunity to respond to criticisms raised and procedural fairness in the conduct of investigations.

The Commission endeavours to resolve complaints of poor health care through informal complaint resolution processes and formal independent conciliations. The more serious cases of poor health care are thoroughly investigated to determine whether the matter should proceed to prosecution or disciplinary action or recommendations should be made to improve health care services.

OUR VALUES

We are committed to certain fundamental values in all our interactions with the public, health care providers and our staff. Our values are to:

- promote public health and safety
- act ethically and with integrity
- be fair, impartial and accountable
- strive for excellence
- act professionally in pursuing our aim
- respect each other and work collaboratively
- provide clear, consistent and timely information
- awareness of the multicultural and linguistic diversity of our clients
- promote and comply with our Code of Practice

OUR EXTERNAL ENVIRONMENT

In recent years the Commission has focused its attention on improving the quality and efficiency of its core business of complaint handling, investigations and prosecutions and restoring public expectations of the Commission as a credible and trusted investigator of health care complaints.

The Commission has also been re-building positive and constructive relationships with health practitioners and health organisations to promote quality assurance practices in patient care and be a positive change agent for improving the standard of health care.

The move to national Registration Authorities will present challenges to the Commission in maintaining timely and adequate consultation processes.

The Commission's key stakeholders will continue to require more detailed and timely performance and outcome information and reporting into the future.

New and more diverse health care services and a broader range/category of health providers will demand more sophisticated approaches to the investigation of complaints.
